

Inclusive Disability Advocacy

ADA Australia provides advocacy support to LGBTIQ+ people with disabilities.

- Are you living with a disability and being treated unfairly or being discriminated against by support services?
- Are you concerned about the quality of support services you receive through the NDIS or other support or government agencies?
- Are you finding it difficult to access disability support services or fear that your identity is a barrier to accessing services?

Everyone has the right to quality disability support services and to be who they are, and our advocates provide safe support to people who are LGBTIQ+ with disabilities to help them uphold their rights and be heard.

Our Aged Care advocacy services are:

- Directed by the clients we support
- Free, confidential and independent
- Available throughout Queensland
